

Bullying Case Studies

The following case studies are based on real-life situations. They may be helpful in the classroom or with clients for educational and demonstrative purposes.

Case Study Number Four

A teacher has approached you because she is worried about the behavior of a child in your class. Normally this child is quiet and easy to get along with, but lately she has been angry and aggressive. You know this girl and are her friend. You have recently heard that someone has created a Web site that has listed all kinds of nasty things about her.

Discussion Questions

- What would you say to the teacher?
- Who is the bully? Why?
- What would you say to the student?
- What steps, if any, could you take to rectify this situation?
